TOMORROW--BIGGEST POLITICAL EVENT EVER IN RUSHVILLE

PREPARATIONS ARE COMPLETED

The Big All-Day Rally Will be a Monster Celebration and Demonstration.

WARM WELCOME FOR WATSON

Torchlight Procession Will Meet the Gubernatorial Candidate at
I. & C. Traction Station.

Tomorrow is the big day!
Everything is in readiness and if the Democrats do not bribe the weather man, we are going to have an old fashioned rally that will put the promoters of the ones that made history thirty years ago, to shame.
Of course, during these prosperous times many farmers will insist on coming in modern motor cars, but still the big delegation from the various townships are coming as of yore, done up in colors of red, white and blue, pretty misses in white dresses, husky sons of toil on prancing horses, full of politics—and especially Republicanism—to the brim.
It will be the occasion of welcoming home a man who has brought honor to this goodly old county of Rush, and it is with a feeling of pride that loyal supporters of James E. Watson will rally around him and give him the greatest ovation ever tendered a man in this or any adjoining county.

J. W. KERN HERE TODAY.

John W. Kern, Democratic nominee for vice president, spoke to a crowd of about 800 or 900 people here this afternoon and was tendered a warm reception by local Democratic politicians.

BY THE WAYSIDE

It is always customary for the bridal party to give the newly married couple a good send-off, so with this end in view, the bridal guests waited patiently at the foot of the stairway in the E. L. Kennedy residence yesterday afternoon for the wedded couple to appear, ready for their journey. In the meantime, after racking their brains for some clever scheme to evade their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMillin, with the assistance of the bride's brother, Lon Kennedy, climbed down a ladder to the ground and had been gone nearly an hour before their guests realized what had happened. Then there was consternation in the ranks of the assembled crowd, to think that they had been so easily defeated.

Everyone intending to participate in the parade tomorrow should cut out the map published in this issue of the Daily Republican, showing plans of formation of the pageant.

Sam Oldham is confined to his home in North Harrison street on account of sickness.

Arthur Irvin is threatened with appendicitis, and is unable to leave his home in North Main street.

Charles Caron, who had an operation performed yesterday at the Sexton sanitarium, is in a much better condition today.

CARDINAL FOR COUNTY OPTION

Highest Catholic Prelate in America
Endorses Indiana's Republican Platform.

WILL HAVE WIDE INFLUENCE

Cardinal Gibbons is Not a Radical,
But Gives a Sensible, Christian-Like Expression.

Cardinal Gibbons, head of the Roman Catholic church in America, a great churchman and a great American, has arrayed himself upon the side of local option.

"I have pronounced convictions on the question of local option," he said, "I have given study and thought to it and these are my conclusions:

1. "I do not believe that prohibition in the great cities is practicable. Attempts to prevent the sale of liquors by legislation in these great communities would only invite deception and law violation by liquor sellers and consumers. The result would be unfortunate for the city and no good would be served.

"For such cities I believe high license laws, strictly enforced with constant supervision of the saloons to be the best possible solution of the problem.

2. "I am heartily and absolutely in favor of local option for all other communities. I would have the county as a unit in the elections."

"To my mind the people of a county should have the right and the power to decide for themselves whether or not liquor shall be sold within the county limits.

"I have spoken briefly, but I could not express more fully my belief on this subject if I talked much longer."

Cardinal Gibbons has justified his reputation and known standards for temperance and good citizenship. He can not be accused of being a fanatic on the subject.

County local option does not mean prohibition. County local option is the only sane way to settle the liquor question.

James E. Watson stands for the settlement of that question by the people.

The advice and opinion coming as it does from the highest Catholic dignity in the country and the personal representative of the Pope in America will be the means of many Roman Catholics who intend voting for Bryan to vote for the Republican legislative ticket and Watson in Indiana. The Catholics have always been the champions of temperance and total abstinence and the first temperance organization ever formed in the world was under the leadership of Father Matthews of Dublin, Ireland. Since the day Father Matthews went up and down Ireland crying out against the evil of intemperance, the work of this individual has spread into every land and the present temperance agitation in Indiana can be traced to that source. Self respecting Catholics will put by political party affiliations in Indiana on this great moral issue and heed the advice of that great prelate, Cardinal Gibbons.

I. & C. NEW SCHEDULE.

ROWDIES GOT AFTER WATSON

Was Openly Insulted by a Crowd of Drunken Followers of Marshall.

HOODLUMS WERE INSISTENT

Disgraceful Demonstration Made by Saloon Cohorts, Marked
Richmond Visit.

Would it really be possible anywhere in this great and good State to get a crowd of rowdies, saloon bums and so-called liberal element to publicly insult Thomas Marshall, Democratic candidate for governor? No! Then why? Because he represents, or at least they think he represents an element that favors liberalism. But such was the lot of James E. Watson in Richmond Thursday night. Not only was Mr. Watson insulted and outraged by a lot of ignorant, drunken saloon bums who came rushing out of the grogeries there as he rode in his carriage, but the Republican party and every decent, self respecting, law abiding citizen was insulted by the mob's attack.

Of the affair the Richmond Palladium says in part:

"As the carriage in which were seated James E. Watson, Republican candidate for governor; Ray Shiveley, John F. Robbins and George Matthews, members of the reception committee, was proceeding from the Westcott hotel to the coliseum last evening, it was surrounded by a group of men and boys carrying pictures of Thomas Marshall, Democratic opponent of Watson. The group was rowdy in its behavior and hurled such remarks as: 'We'll get you'; 'Marshall for us'; 'Wait till Tom Marshall fixes you' at the party in the coach. It was the first time in many, many years that a political speaker has been treated to such indignities in this city.

"The leaders of the mob are old enough to vote and this fact lends added significance to the occurrence. A number of boys attracted by the display joined in the hooting. The rowdies began to assemble about the carriage as it waited at the hotel. The plan had been prearranged and as the carriage proceeded west on Main street the hoodlums created an uproar. As the carriage passed the saloons between Ninth and Tenth streets the group of followers was increased. Men and boys emerged from the saloons carrying pictures of Marshall and emitting howls in derision. They formed themselves about three sides of the carriage and kept up the din with the blare of tin horns and the aid of powerful lungs.

"Some of the leaders of the crowd ran so close beside the carriage as to be able to thrust the Marshall pictures over the doors and into the faces of Mr. Watson and other occupants. One fellow, bolder than his associates, jumped on the step of the carriage and waved a Marshall lithograph over the head of Watson. The attitude of the mob appeared threatening and when it seemed as if further indignities might be attempted, Mr. Shiveley called to the driver to whip up the horses and elude the pursuers.

"The crowd took after the conveyance on the run and by darting through alleys and dodging other persons on the street overtook it just in front of the coliseum. The Marshall pictures were flaunted again and the howls renewed. When Mr.

Watson and the committee left the carriage, they walked into the building between the lines of men and boys displaying the pictures and still screaming, yelling and hurling epithets.

"The immense audience in the coliseum knew nothing of the occurrence until Mr. Watson made reference to his unkind treatment by a crew of saloon bums that had disgraced the streets of Richmond. He used no invective and the only moral pointed was that it was such men who are supporting Marshall and that he (Watson) does not care for their support. This was the first intimation the crowd inside had of the affair. The speaker made no further reference to it."

THE SERVICE WAS CRIPPLED

Today the people of Manilla are shaking hands with themselves over the lucky escape they had in the threatening fire yesterday.

CELEBRATION WILL BE A DOUBLE ONE

Hallowe'en and Big Republican Demonstration Will be Our Lot Tomorrow Night.

SANE CELEBRATION DESIRED

Hallowe'en will be observed doubtless in Rushville in the customary style with the added feature of a Republican monster rally and reception for Watson.

Masked people will probably preambulate about the square for hours and fun will run riot. In all the occasion, however, promises to be a merry one, and it is only to be hoped that all can enjoy themselves without having to resort to the destroying of someone's property before they will admit having had a good time.

GIVE CREDIT TO LON MULL

Render Unto Caesar the Things That are Caesar's.

One Republican sums it up thusly: How Lon Mull made it possible to save taxes! By leaving his own party and voting with the Republicans. The only acts for which he claims any credit while in the legislature, was for leaving his own party and voting with the Republicans, and for Republican measures. Republican laws are always right—Democratic ones, never.

CALL TO MOTHERS WIVES AND SISTERS

Never before has there been a campaign when the mothers of Indiana were so vitally interested as the present one. There is a great moral question at stake and inasmuch as the brewers and saloon men are making such a desperate fight, it behooves all mothers, wives, and sisters to exert every influence possible to secure votes for the Republican cause and the continuance of the county option law and all other good laws tending towards regulation and extermination. Is there any argument that can be produced in favor of the saloon; or why the brewers of this State should control and dictate in politics? One death from a drunken fight or one mother's son filling a drunkard's grave is enough argument to overshadow everything good that could be said about saloons in one hundred years. True, there are many good Democratic fathers, and mothers who believe as their husbands, who think Democracy is right, but surely they can see something is wrong this year when all the saloon men and the big brewers are doing everything in their power to have Marshall and a Democratic legislative ticket elected. Void of all principle they are not stopping at anything in their mad desire to secure control.

Around the fireside where all the great questions are finally settled—those that are settled right—think on this proposition, sanely and soberly, and see if you do not conclude every loving father and self-respecting brother should cast his vote for Watson, Senator Moore and Will Jay, against the brewers who drag men's souls down to perdition for the sake of gold. It is a battle for a principle.

BREWERS BOOST MARSHALL

The famous—or rather infamous—Red Posters, being put out by the brewers have appeared in Rushville. Think of the brewers openly espousing the cause of Marshall in this bold fashion, and then ask yourself—your better self, Mr. Democrat—if it is right to have the brewers dominate in politics and tell the people who and what they want.

PORTLAND, MAINE, CHILD
Ill, Weak and Emaciated, Restored to Health by Vinol
 "Our little daughter, six years of age, after a severe attack of the measles, which developed into pneumonia, was left pitifully thin, weak and emaciated. She had no appetite, and her stomach was so weak it could not retain food. She lay in this condition for weeks, and nothing the doctor prescribed did a bit of good, and we were beginning to think she would never recover."

"At this time we commenced to give her Vinol, and the effect was marvelous. The doctor was amazed at her progress, and when we told him we were giving her Vinol, he replied, 'It is a fine remedy, keep it up.' We did so, and she recovered her health and strength months before the doctor thought she could." J. W. Flagg, Portland, Me.

Vinol cures conditions like this because in a natural manner it increases the appetite, tones up the digestive organs, makes rich, red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body.

Vinol is sold in Rushville by F. B. Johnson & Co., Druggists.

MORSE IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

Financier Undergoes Ordeal of Cross Examination.

STARTLED WHEN NAME CALLED

Though All Through the Tedious Days of His Trial Charles W. Morse Knew That the Ordeal of Examination Was Coming, He Was Obviously Startled When the Summons Finally Came for Him to Take the Witness Stand, and His Voice Was So Low in Starting as to Be Inaudible to the Jury.

New York, Oct. 30.—Charles W. Morse, who, with Alfred H. Curtis, former president of the National Bank of North America, is on trial in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court on a charge of conspiracy and violation of the national banking laws, took the stand in his own defense.

All during the tedious days of the trial, Mr. Morse has sat inside the railing nervously awaiting the moment when it would become necessary for him to take the witness chair and undergo the ordeal of cross-examination that he knew was in store for him. When his name was called he sprang from his chair as though greatly startled, looked inquiringly at his counsel, and when the latter nodded his head affirmatively the financier hurried to the witness stand beside Judge Hough's bench and moved about restlessly in his seat while the lawyers were framing questions to ask him.

In a voice so low as to be inaudible to the jury, Mr. Morse gave his birthplace as Bath, Me., said he had graduated from Bowdoin college and that on coming to New York he engaged in the shipping and later the ice business. After these preliminary interrogations the lawyers for the government volleyed questions at Morse so rapidly that the financier's voice failed him when he endeavored to answer them. Mr. Morse related how he came to have an interest in the National Bank of North America, saying that he secured an interest in the consolidation in 1902. The accused banker said that he had had no experience in the routine of banking. Mr. Morse said he was not a salaried officer of the bank and knew nothing of the legal exactions covering national banking.

The financier then told of forming the acquaintance of Mr. Curtis and Mr. Wire. "I had confidence in them and used my influence to have them made president and cashier of the bank," said Mr. Morse. Mr. Morse testified that he knew nothing of the bank's methods of bookkeeping, and admitted that he saw the bank's loan sheets only a few times each year.

"My secretary, Kate A. Wilson, and my former secretary, Arthur Braun, attended to my personal and private affairs," said the witness. "Miss Wilson kept my bank account straight."

Mr. Morse's counsel then asked a number of questions regarding the connection of Mr. Morse with the American Ice company. Mr. Morse said that he had been connected with that company since its formation "in 1898 or 1899." The company was then paying dividends, witness testified, and dealt principally in natural ice. A difference in the demand came in 1902, he said, and artificial ice was all the market wanted. That effected a change in the business of the company.

As this line of questioning was continued it finally led up to the point of the loans made to John F. Carroll by the National Bank of North America, amounting to $135,000 at one time. In explaining the Carroll loans he said they were secured by 40,000 shares of ice stock. Mr. Morse told of a plan to buy half of the Carroll stock at $30 a share and give the bank the profit of the deal. Then he purchased 4,000 shares of ice stock, he said, at $40 a share, for Mrs. Gelshenen.

"What became of this profit of $10 a share?" asked Mr. Morse's lawyer. "I gave it to the bank," answered the financier.

The loans made to Leslie Whiting, the nineteen-year-old clerk in a broker's office, were then taken up and Mr. Morse said that the first loan of $80,000 to the youth was made at his (Morse's) request and "was an accommodation borrow."

Mr. Morse told of how the loan made to Whiting had been used to take up 2,000 shares of Carroll ice stock. The second Whiting loan of $69,000 was secured by 2,000 shares of ice stock, being one-half of the Carroll stock he, Mr. Morse, had purchased.

Before Mr. Morse testified, Colonel R. M. Thompson, a former director of the National Bank of North America was on the stand and Attorney General Stimson asked him if the holding company for the American Ice company had not been characterized as a "trust." "An evening newspaper has so characterized it," answered Colonel Thompson.

"Did not the attorney general of the state so characterize it?" asked Mr. Stimson.

"Not until the attorney general was caught short in the stock market and was stung," was the response.

Later in discussing the Morse loans, Colonel Thompson was asked if he had been aware of the fact that Mr. Morse had several times overdrawn his account.

"There is not a broker in Wall street who does not overdraw his bank account daily," answered Colonel Thompson, and he added: "They have no way of knowing what they are going to win during the day."

After court had adjourned Colonel Thompson sought out the newspaper men and said that his testimony regarding the attorney general had been misunderstood and that his answer to the question, "Did not the attorney general of the state so characterize it?" should have been entered on the court records as follows:

"Not until some politicians who were acquaintances of the attorney general were caught short on the stock market and stung."

Colonel Thompson said that he had no knowledge that the attorney general had ever speculated in the stock market.

THE RUEF SCANDAL IN A NEW PHASE

Convicted Jury Fixer Tells His Sordid Tale.

San Francisco, Oct. 30.—Standing in the shadow of the penitentiary, with sentence about to be passed upon him, and having seen his beautiful young wife just led from the courtroom hysterically crying, "No, no," E. A. S. Blake, the contractor accused of attempting to bribe John M. Kelly to qualify on the jury to try Abraham Ruef and vote for Ruef's acquittal, made a full confession in court. He told how, after he was arrested, Frank J. Murphy, Ruef's associate counsel, came to him and promised him $10,000 if he would keep quiet, the amount in notes, signed by Ruef, being delivered to a third party, to be paid to Blake immediately after he was sentenced. Besides this amount, Blake declared that his wife was to receive $100 a month while he was in the penitentiary.

When Blake was called on to rise for sentence, his young wife cried, "No, not that," and began to sob hysterically. She was led from the room and after motions for new trial and arrest of judgment had been denied, Blake said he had a statement to make as reason why sentence should not be pronounced. This came as a complete surprise to his counsel, who were permitted to withdraw from the case. After being sworn and stating that he had not been promised immunity, Blake told of being offered $10,000 by Attorneys A. S. Newburgh and F. J. Murphy of Ruef's counsel, to influence J. M. Kelly, a prospective juror, to vote for the acquittal of Ruef. He at first offered Kelly $500, which was refused, but the offer of $1,000 was accepted.

It was then brought out that Newburgh had secured attorneys for Blake's defense. Blake then told of the offer of $10,000 and provision for his wife while he was in prison if he would not make a confession. The story told by Blake created a sensation in court and the case was continued for two weeks.

Little Girl Fatally Hurt.

Delphi, Ind., Oct. 30.—Myrtle Kurtz, aged fourteen, was internally injured and both of her legs were cut off by a Wabash passenger train here. A cut of cars on the sidetrack obstructed the view of the main line, and Miss Kurtz stepped from behind the cars onto the main track directly in front of a passenger train which was running at a high rate of speed. The girl was taken to her home, and physicians say she cannot live.

Corydon, Ind., Oct. 30.—People living in the vicinity of Lazy creek, Harrison county, believe a miracle has been performed in furnishing them with water. Lazy creek is a sluggish stream about five miles long, emptying into Indian creek a short distance below Lanesville. It had gone dry during the long drouth and dust blew along the bed of the creek.

People in the community were compelled to go several miles for water. Recently these people were surprised to see water in Lazy creek. They found that the springs which are the source of the stream, were giving forth a bountiful supply of clear water. The water in the stream is now a foot deep.

KERN'S STATE TOUR

Vice Presidential Nominee Continues to Address "Home Folks."

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 30.—Two rousing meetings in this city last night brought the fourth day of John W. Kern's Indiana campaign to a whirlwind finish. An hour before he appeared here he addressed a big crowd of miners and laboring men at Brazil. The three audiences were the largest he has spoken to since he entered upon his canvass of the state on Monday. The vice presidential nominee spoke during the day at Rockville, Mecca, Clinton and Sullivan. His itinerary provided emphatically for a speaking tour, no time allowance having been made seemingly for meal hours. In consequence the candidate took his noon meal from a lunch-basket while whirling along over a dusty road in an automobile between Rockville and Clinton.

The time allotted for speaking and for covering intervening distances coincided so perfectly that to stop for dinner meant being late in keeping his engagements, and Mr. Kern would not entertain that idea. The meetings here were preceded by a street parade with several bands and much red fire. The first at which Mr. Kern spoke was in Young's theater. The building would not contain the crowd that sought admittance and an overflow was held in front of the county courthouse. To this audience Mr. Kern spoke briefly, but his voice was so husky that a comparatively small part of the crowd could hear him. He prefaced an argument at the indoor meeting on oppression by the money power by declaring that a leading metropolitan Republican newspaper, through a special correspondent admitted that "vast sums of money have been poured into the Republican campaign fund in the past few weeks by the great banking and trust interests and by law-defying corporations, to be used if necessary in debauching American voters."

"Gentlemen, that is the way the Republican leaders hope to win," he continued, "by the use of money they expect to undertake in the name of God and morality to hire men to repeat in elections and to engage in similar unlawful practices."

Addressing the miners and laboring men at Brazil, Mr. Kern said: "The workingman has had a bitter experience during the past four years. The full dinner-pail has become a standing joke. He understands that if he would protect his wife and children, he must do it at the ballot-box next Tuesday."

The crowd which the campaigners found waiting at Sullivan late in the afternoon had been held together for three hours by Rev. Sam Small, ex-Judge J. R. Corrigan of Minnesota and other speakers, who returned with Mr. Kern to this city and addressed last night's meetings. Today Mr. Kern is visiting Greencastle, Shelbyville, Rushville, and will reach Indianapolis for a meeting tonight.

Two Killed at Blind Crossing.

Delphi, Ind., Oct. 30.—W. S. Cunningham, aged forty-five, and son, aged ten, were struck and killed by a Vandalla freight train south of this city. They were returning from one of the Cunningham farms near Flora, on their way to their home near Camden. At the crossing where the accident occurred approaching trains are not easily seen. The wagon was completely demolished and one horse was instantly killed. Mr. Cunningham and son were picked up from the roadside and taken to Flora, where they died shortly after. The accident occurred near the crossing where the Crites family, four in number, were killed a few weeks ago.

Lesson V.—Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 1, 1908.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, II Sam. xv, 1-12. Memory Verses, 5, 6—Golden Text. Ex. xx, 12—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

(Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association.)

It was a rare thing that the Lord was able to write of Abraham, "I know him, that he will command his children and his household after him, and they shall keep the way of the Lord" (Gen. xviii, 19). It is written of so good a man as Eli that his sons were sons of Belial. They made themselves vile, and he restrained them not, and the Lord looked upon that as honoring his sons above God. He did not command or restrain them (I Sam. ii, 12, 24, 29; iii, 13). David had one son, a fine looking fellow, whom he never even displeased by asking him, "Why hast thou done so?" (I Kings i, 5, 6.) But he turned out very badly. He had a beautiful name, Adonijah, which means Jehovah is my Lord, but a beautiful name or form or features count for nothing if the heart is not right with God. Absalom's name signifies "father of peace," and there was not a more beautiful man in all Israel (II Sam. xiv, 25, 26), but we see him in today's lesson ready to dethrone and kill his own father.

Absalom, having slain his brother Amnon, fled to Talmai, king of Geshur, his mother's father, and was there three years (II Sam. xiii, 37, 38; iii, 3), but David longed to see him. Joab, perceiving David's longing for Absalom, brought it about through a wise woman of Tekoa (chapter xiv), so Absalom returned to Jerusalem, and yet he was there two full years without seeing his father's face (xiv, 28). In due time Absalom and his father met. The king kissed him (verse 33). Then follows the lesson of today, wherein we see Absalom stealing the hearts of the men of Israel and under the pretense of keeping a vow to the Lord at Hebron caused himself to be proclaimed king, saying, "Absalom reigneth in Hebron" (verse 10). He sent for his father's counselor, Ahithophel, and took with him 200 men from Jerusalem, who went in their simplicity and knew not anything, and so the people increased continually with Absalom, and the conspiracy against David was strong (verses 11, 12).

God calls Israel His son, His first-born, and said of him, "Thy beauty was perfect through my comeliness, which I had put upon thee," and called him the dearly beloved of His soul and yet had to say, "I have nourished and brought up children, and they have rebelled against Me," although nothing could possibly be done for them that He had not done. See in confirmation of these statements; Exa. iv, 2, 23; Ezek. xvi, 14; Jer. xli, 7; Isa. i, 2; v, 4. Then when Jesus came in humiliation as their Messiah they despised Him and rejected Him and killed Him, and the night before they crucified Him He went forth with His

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Rushville People Know How to Save it.

Many Rushville people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Rushville citizen's recommendation.

Mrs. Earnest Carpenter, 919 North Sexton street, Rushville, Ind., says: "My little boy's kidneys were weak and he could not control the secretions. This trouble had clung to him for some time and I was afraid it could not be removed, as the doctor had not succeeded in checking it. The child was very delicate, had a bad complexion and numerous other symptoms of unhealthy kidneys. I learned that Doan's Kidney Pills had cured many children of such troubles and I procured them at F. B. Johnson & Company's drug store. They soon checked the trouble. The child has a better appetite now, the color in his face is returning, his kidneys are becoming stronger and there is a general improvement in his condition."

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

little band over the same Kidron and to the same Olivet (verses 23, 30), for the people had said, "We have no king but Caesar." In due time Absalom was slain, and David returned to his throne and kingdom. So in due time the great adversary shall perish and Jesus shall reign (Rev. xx, 1-3; xi, 15). David did not return until the men of Judah as one man sent him this word, "Return thou and all thy servants" (xix, 14), and we cannot but wonder what might take place if in response to our Lord's threefold "Surely I come quickly" of Rev. xxii the church should as one person cry, "Amen! Even so come, Lord Jesus!" With all her divisions and on the part of the majority no expectation of His return we cannot think that the church ever will be of one accord on this point, but we rejoice to believe that in the fullness of time, the church being completed, He will come to the air to welcome her to Himself and then return with her in His glory for this same Israel's benefit and to subdue all things unto Himself.

During the time of His rejection may we be found like the servants of verse 15, the 600 of verse 18 and those of verse 21. It is surely a small thing for us to say as His redeemed, and yet something we ought to say, "Behold, thy servants are ready to do whatsoever my Lord the King shall appoint" and hold ourselves for any manner of service wholly at His commandment (I Chron. xxviii, 21). The 600 recall the whole Adullam story of the faithful followers and their reward when he came to the throne. Itai and his memorabilia words, "As the Lord liveth and as my Lord the King liveth, surely in what place my Lord the King shall be, whether in death or life, even there also will thy servant be," remind us of the devotion of Ruth, another gentle, and point us on to the time when all gentle nations shall manifest a similar devotion to Israel because of the Lord who shall reign in their midst. David's submission to God is seen in his sending back the ark of the covenant to Jerusalem, saying, "If I shall find favor in the eyes of the Lord He will bring me again, * * * behold, here am I. Let him do to me as seemeth good unto Him" (verses 24-26). He was filled with sorrow, yet his mind was stayed upon Jehovah. Our blessed Lord in the midst of His great sorrow gave the disciples His peace and prayed that they might have His joy, a peace and joy independent of circumstances because it cometh from God.

"Heart Failure" and "Pledge Failure." The heart of Christian Endeavor is in the first clause of the pledge.

"Heart failure," the cause often assigned for death, is only a confession of ignorance. So with "pledge failure." Back of that is usually the failure of the executive committees, the secretary, the lookout committee, and so on.

A Safety Valve. The more Christian Endeavor societies the safer the republic.—Governor Stuart of Pennsylvania in Patriotic Address at Reading State Convention.

UNITED STATES A MECCA FOR THE VIVISECTIONISTS.

So Author of a Plea For Regulation of Animal Experiments Asserts.

That the United States, owing to the lack of laws restricting vivisection, is a Mecca for "scientific fanatics" is asserted in a book about to be published in New York, "The Problem of Vivisection—A Plea For Proper Regulation." The author says:

"The abuses of research include every form of excruciating and lingering torment that can be conceived. In the august name of science, animals have been subjected to burning, baking, freezing, saturation with inflammable oil and then setting on fire, starvation to death, skinning alive, larding the feet with nails, crushing and tormenting in every conceivable way."

"But are such glaring abuses possible in America? Why not? The realm of pain has here no boundaries which investigation is required to observe. In no American state or commonwealth is there any law, any statute of any kind whatever, which would prevent these experiments from being repeated here as often as desired."

"Now, is it probable that in a country like ours, with a population drawn from every foreign source, experimental research, thus unrestrained, remains free from the excesses which have stained it everywhere else—in Italy, in France, in Germany?"

"The absence of clear, definite and reasonable limitations beyond which vivisection becomes cruelty and should not go is of itself an invitation to abuse. And scientific fanatics have even been known to come to the United States to perpetrate acts of cruelty which they knew would not be allowed under the humane restrictions of the English law."

If you want a lemon, buy it; don't vote for it.

No discriminations between law-breakers because of their wealth or of their poverty—that is the keynote of Republican statesmanship in enforcing the law and Democratic demagoguery.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 1, 1908.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Songs of the heart.—VI. The sleepless watcher.—Ps. cxxi. Consecration meeting.

It has been said that the One Hundred and Twentieth Psalm is one of complaint, while the one before us is one of comfort and consolation. In this psalm the writer forgets his distresses or overcomes them by "lifting his eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help." The hills were the hills of Zion, the location of the temple, the especial abode of God Himself; hence the psalmist means that he was really looking to God, and, moreover, he adds, "My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth."

The protection of God is amply set forth throughout the entire psalm and by various figures. In the fifth verse he says: "The Lord is thy keeper; the Lord is thy shade (protector) upon thy right hand. The sun shall not smite thee by day nor the moon by night." They were to be free from sunstrokes and the deleterious effects of the moon's rays by night. Some have doubted such injuries of the moon, but modern travelers have proved that bad effects do follow sleeping in the moonlight in hot countries. When the full facts are known the Bible is always proved to be true. It always will be. "The Lord shall preserve thy soul"—keep us in temptations to evil. "The Lord shall preserve thee * * * forevermore"—for time and for eternity. These declarations of the psalmist are all true. Our God is both able and willing to do all that is here set forth. The only condition is our willingness to trust Him that "He may bring it to pass."

The supreme thought of the psalmist selected for our consideration is that the Lord is a sleepless watcher and keeper. "He that keepeth thee shall neither slumber nor sleep." There are sweet comfort and satisfaction in this fact that God is a sleepless watcher. Neither by day nor by night is He unconscious of our cry. How often a child becomes restless at night and, filled with fear in the dark, cries out, "Are you awake, mamma?" And when the answer comes back, "Yes, dear," how the little brain and heart are comforted and soon find rest in sleep! Mamma is awake. Why should she fear? Children of God, Christian Endeavorers, your Heavenly Father is always awake. Why should you fear? There is no need unless you have offended Him and are not on good terms with Him, and even then if you cry to Him in penitence how ready he is to hear you! No sound is so sweet to the ear of our Heavenly Father as the cry of the penitent, and He is willing to forgive and able to forget, which we cannot do, the sin that has separated us from Him. Let us only fear to offend God, and then we may "lay ourselves down and sleep in peace," because He who never slumbers watches over us.

BIBLE READINGS. Ps. iv, 8; I Sam. xvi, 1-7; Amos. ix, 2-4; Matt. x, 26-29; Ps. cxlvi, 1-6; xxvii, 1-4; xxxi, 1-6; xxxviii, 1-11; Matt. vi, 24-34; lxvii, 1-7.

With a New Zeal. I would recommend that we labor with a new zeal this year:

First.—By stirring up the fires of Endeavor wherever they require it. For various reasons there are not a few societies which need a new baptism of life and enthusiasm, and it should be our special aim to study how to poke up their embers into a blaze of enthusiasm among the young.

Second.—By heaping up fresh fuel upon the old fires in all parts of the land. The baptism of God's own Spirit, the baptism of heavenly fire, should be sought for every one of our 700 societies. A new love for the Master, a fresh passion for His word, a mighty yearning for the salvation of souls and an all absorbing eagerness to build up the local church—this is the fuel which all our Endeavor societies specially need in order that they may carry the fire of God's all consuming love unto all who come in contact with them.

Third.—By starting new Endeavor fires wherever possible. There are many places within your reach and mine where Christian youths are lying helpless and useless who could be converted into new sources of power for the cause of Christ and humanity by being organized into Christian Endeavor societies. Why should not every society study the field around it and carry its message of light and its fire of life into neighboring villages and towns? Let us treble the number of societies this year, and thus brighten the flame of our own lamps by kindling others.

And let us do this not ultimately for the cause of Christian Endeavor, but for Christ and for the furtherance of the great kingdom of righteousness which He has established. Let us remember that Christian Endeavor finds greatest prosperity when it does not obtrusively seek its own and when it is the eager handmaid of God's own church.—Rev. J. P. Jones, President India C. E. Union.

of the wreck Marshall and the legislature to repeal the county option law, has aroused most intense and widespread indignation and resentment among the better class of Democrats. It is only what they had suspected and feared. They know it now.

Voters of Indiana, how do you like to take instructions as to how you shall vote from the Jung Brewing Company, of Cincinnati? Every dollar of the capital stock of the Jung Brewing Company is held in England, and all the profits from the immense business go to England. This foreign concern has issued a signed letter in which the defeat of Watson and the election of Marshall is urged in the interest of the English beer-making syndicate.

Voters of Indiana! Lest we forget, remember that the United States under Republican policies, and Republican administration has made and is making the most marvelous progress ever recorded in history.

Business men of Indiana! Lest we forget, remember that during the last twelve years you have prospered as never before and that during the last Democratic administration you had a rocky road.

Farmers of Indiana! Lest we forget remember that within the last twelve years of Republican administration your lands have doubled in value and the products of your farms have more than doubled in value. Remember that during Cleveland's last administration corn sold as low as 15 cents a bushel, oats 13 cents, wheat 50 cents, hogs 3 cents, cattle 2 to 3 cents.

Laboring men of Indiana! Lest we forget, remember the soup houses the millions of unemployed and the empty workshops from 1893 to 1907. Remember that during the winters of 1894 and 1895 township trustees in the State gave employment to men with families two days in the week at $1 a day in order to keep the wolf from the door. Remember that the free trade policies of Mr. Bryan will bring back those conditions.

Temperance people of Indiana! Lest we forget, remember that all temperance legislation has been placed on the statute books of this State by the Republican party. Remember that every brewer, every saloon keeper, every gambler and every bawdy house keeper is now lined up solidly for the Democratic State ticket. Patriots of Indiana! Lest we forget, remember that vigilance and activity are the prices of our liberties. Every man should do his plain duty next Tuesday—vote for his home, his children, the welfare of his neighbors, his State and his nation.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF
For Coughs, Colds Sore Throats and Hoarseness, by Using Hyomei.

When you catch cold you want to get rid of it as quickly as you can. You don't want to lie around the house for a week swallowing nauseating drugs. You know when you do this that you are not only making your own life miserable, but are a nuisance to everyone about you. Why not avoid all this; why not relieve your cold in five minutes; why not cure it over night? You can do it by using Hyomei, the sure and guaranteed cure for Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Bronchitis and Asthma. Hyomei is medicated and antiseptic air; you breathe it into the lungs through a small pocket inhaler, and its soothing influences as it passes over the inflamed membrane of the respiratory tracts, stops the mucus discharge, allays the inflammation, and the cold is cured. A complete Hyomei outfit costs $1.00 and F. B. Johnson & Co. will refund your money if it fails to cure. HUSBAND AND WIFE CURED I had a bad form of catarrh. My left nostril was closed entirely. There was also a constant dripping of blood from the right. I only used Hyomei a little over two weeks, and am now cured. My husband was also cured of catarrh and lung trouble two years ago by Hyomei.—Mrs. Harry Obney, Alliance, Ohio.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

The freak election bets now appear on the scene and offer some recreation from the sterner realities of the confusing and thrilling scenes of election times. Bill Arnold has bet Elmer Hite his trousers against a similar habillment worn by Hite that Taft will be elected. The bet will be paid on the public square. A barrel will be given to the loser.

DID WATSON WEAR WOODEN SHOES? . . . A NATIONAL QUESTION.

It is indeed an honor to be chosen the subject for "Who's Who—And Why"—a department in the Saturday Evening Post, the leading weekly publication of America. Of course it is not written in a serious vein! The writer, Sam Blythe, has about the happiest faculty of anyone in this nation of saying things, and saying them in a semi-serious, serio-humorous vein. Serious and Frivolous Facts About the Great and Near Great, is the sentiment resting over the Blythe article. This week the Post devotes that department to Watson. The caption over the story "The Man With the Wooden Shoes" will give one an idea of the nature of the articles which follows: Of course, James Eli Watson smiles a deprecatory smile and waves a graceful and disparaging hand when you put it up to him, and protests: "Oh, no; no, indeed; not that," but they do say when he ran for Congress his first time, against Watchdog Holman out in Indiana, Watson wore wooden shoes when he was campaigning among the Germans, used a string of frankfurters for a necktie, and sang Oh, My German Brother, before each speech. That was away back yonder in the Fifty-fourth Congress, after John K. Gowdy, who invented the paintbrush whiskers Candidate Kern is now making so popular, had enticed James Eli over from his home in Winchester to Rushville, where the Gowdy whiskers were brought to their full flower of perfection, and had told James Eli there was a mighty good chance in that district for a rising young chap. Winchester is the ancestral home of the Watsons, but there wasn't much doing thereabouts for young men with political ambitions, certain other citizens, who had risen, having the raising machinery by the tail with a downhill drag, as the saying of that section goes. But in Gowdy's district there was a chance, for Mr. Watchdog Holman had been going to Congress so long from that part of Indiana he began to think there was something in the Constitution that gave him the job—and there wasn't. So James Eli migrated to Rushville and ran for Congress against Holman, and he put it all over the Watchdog, for when the dust of the conflict had settled it was discovered that James Eli, wrapped in the starry flag, had some votes to spare, and he burst into the House of Representatives the next December, bursting out again two years later, but arriving for the Fifty-sixth Congress, still panoplied in the red, white and blue, and remaining there until now, when he is running for Governor of Indiana on the Republican ticket, with his eye on any casual Senatorship that may happen along later, provided, of course—provided—but what's the use? It will be all over in a few days, anyhow. They do say James Eli wore wooden shoes in that first campaign. Maybe he did. Nobody has produced any letters bearing on this important subject yet, but this much is certain: If James Eli thought he could get any votes by wearing wooden shoes, he would wear 'em, or wooden socks or a wooden vest. When it comes to garnering votes James Eli lets no such things as habillment stand in his way. He would make a campaign in a fur coat and a straw hat if he thought it would bring any tangible results in the way of ballots on election day. When James Eli is in Indiana he does as the Indians do, does it for a fare-you-well, but that is when he is campaigning. Down in Washington he looks mighty slick in his evening clothes, for when it comes to pulchritude James Eli has a whole lot of our lawmakers beaten to a whisper. James Eli was a boy orator at De Pauw University at the same time Senator Beveridge was a boy orating at that seat of learning. Possibly there wasn't room at DePauw for two boy orators. Anyhow, one day the Faculty informed James Eli they would give him twenty-four hours in which to leave for Winchester. Until this day that Faculty owes Watson twenty-three hours, for he left in one, thus allowing all the boy-orator privileges to Beveridge, with the result that is now apparent.

All Indiana boy orators go into politics, and James Eli went in. He also laid out several other lines of endeavor. He joined the Knights of Pythias and became grand chancellor of the order for the State, and was twice elected president of the State Epworth League. In these capacities he tarveled from one end of the commonwealth to the other, shaking every hand, to be exact, and using the warm and lingering clasp that means so much out that way. He was nominated for Presidential elector in 1892, but owing to the fact that Mr. Cleveland used the Indiana electors that year, had no chance to exercise his high function. Then he ran for Secretary of State, a sort of a warming-up gallop, and was not nominated. Then Gowdy came into his life and

Henry U. Johnson cleaned him up. Those two years were happily spent in shaking hands, and, next time, Johnson withdrew and Watson has been coming to Congress ever since, taking the Republican nomination for Governor last summer and being now within a few days of finding out whether he is or isn't, a child of destiny. You see a fortune-teller told him once he was a child of destiny. It was remarkable, really. Watson has a sort of an occult slant. He likes to delve into hidden mysteries. So he dropped in on the fortune-teller one day, just for a lark. "Your second name has three letters in it," she told him, "and you are very fond of Smithfield ham." Well that staggard him, for his second name has three letters in it, and, next to singing a hymn, nothing gives him so much pleasure as Smithfield ham. So he fell for the child of destiny designation, and it has made out pretty well so far, but the supreme test is coming early in November. Did or did not that fortune-teller tell James Eli he was to be Governor of Indiana? If he is to be, she did, but if he isn't to be—oh, this is becoming too complicated. Let's wait and see. On those Congressional occasions when song is necessary, just before final adjournment, or at a long night session, or during a filibuster, James Eli steps right out and takes command. To be sure Jim Tawney thinks he can sing, and he is likely to go scrabbling off on Auld Lang Syne, when Watson in lining out There's a Hole in the Bottom of the Sea, but that is due, more or less, to professional jealousy. When it comes to singing, real singing, you know, Watson has something on Tawney—not much, but a shade. Tawney had a sort of a high, golden, billion-dollar-session tenor, while Watson's is a robust give-me-liberty-or-give-me-death baritone, with fine coloratura effects, as we say when writing musical criticism. Still, when the two of them got together on one memorable afternoon, put their arms around each other's necks and sang The Old Oaken Bucket, it was great. There wasn't a dry throat in the Capitol as soon as the members could get into the committee rooms. Watson leads the Congressional song service at the Dewey Hotel on Sunday afternoons when Congress is in session. His Epworth League experience made a fine hymn singer of him. When he and Colonel Crumpacker get to whooping it up on Pull for the Shore you can hear them as far as Thomas Circle. Likewise, when Watson gets to going good in a speech you can hear him a few blocks. He is what may be called a florid orator. You'd think he was proprietor of an aviary from the number of Birds of Freedom he lets soar. And when he points dramatically at the American flag and apostrophizes a bit, you just naturally get up and yell: "Come on, you Japanese, and we'll lick you to a frazzle in four minutes by the clock!" Watson knows all the rules in the Book of Politics. He has spent the past thirty years in making friends in Indiana. He is suave and smiling, He has shaken hands from South Bend to New Albany, up and down, back and across, kissed babies sung hymns and made speeches. He is a man of good ability, and has made himself a strong place in Congress, where he is a member of the Ways and Means Committee. He has strewed Indiana with garden seeds, public documents, and is the People's Friend. His colleagues in Washington all like him, and wish him luck in his fight for the Governorship. And speaking about the wooden shoes: mayhap you will find a pair in his grip right now. James Eli is looking for votes, and if the end—the wooden shoe end—justifies the means, why not?

DANDRUFF

An Easy Task to Cure It When You Know How.

There are three kinds of dandruff cures:

Good dandruff cures.

Bad dandruff cures.

And plain liquid junk.

The first is good to put on the head; the second is good to keep off the head; and the third is good to flush out the sewer.

The owners of good dandruff cures say our remedy will cure you in two weeks or money back.

The owners of bad dandruff cures guarantee nothing, but spend their money howling fake at the good dandruff cures, which policy they consider is a clever method of enticing the shekels from the unwary.

Parisian Sage is a good dandruff cure. It is guaranteed by F. B. Johnson & Co. to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

It kills the dandruff microbes, it promotes a new growth of hair, it makes hair soft and luxuriant, and is without doubt the most pleasant and invigorating hair dressing made today.

To every reader of the Daily Republican, both man and woman, we want to say these few words:

If you have tried other dandruff cures, hair restorers, and have failed to receive and benefit from them, don't give up hope, try Parisian Sage at our risk.

F. B. Johnson & Co. will sell you a large bottle for 50 cents with a money back guarantee if it does not do as advertised.

Lady Betty Across the Water

By C. N. & A. M. WILLIAMSON * COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

"Of course" I told her she was an angel, and so she was, quite an exceptional kind of an angel, and I kissed her and was saying a great many things when she stopped me. "So glad you like them, dear. But now we must be moving if we're to have our bath this morning. Louise can't leave Katherine, but we'll have one of the other maids come with our things. It's getting late."

I felt frightfully. "It is late, isn't it?" said I hopefully, looking at my watch. "Perhaps it's too late to go this morning, after all."

"Not a bit of it," said Sally. "Come along."

"I'm not sure but that I'd better stop in if Mr. Parker thinks Mrs. Stayvevant-Knox would want me to," I dithered on.

"She won't mind—not much, anyway, if we don't take you to the Casino without her," Sally tried to reassure me. But her eyes had begun to twinkle.

"Don't you think she might? There are a lot of letters I ought"—

"Now, child, out with it. Don't you like the bathing dress?"

"Oh, I admire it immensely," I stammered. "It's like a picture. But—I can't see myself wearing it. That is, I can't bear to think of any one else seeing me wear it."

Sally went off into a fit of musical southern laughter. "You poor baby, I forgot the shock it might be to you if you're accustomed only to English bathing clothes. They certainly are the limit! Have you never been to Trouville or Ostend?"

I shook my head, sad at having to seem ungrateful. But how could I help it?

"Well, they have this kind there, and so they do here. Everybody has it. My prettiest one is much like yours, only it's poppy colored. Katherine's is cornflower blue this year, and she's got a black one and a lilac one. When you see all the others prancing about in the same sort of things you won't feel a bit funny."

"I was far from sure that I should attain to such a peaceful state of mind as not to 'feel funny.' But Sally had called me a baby, and I had to redeem myself from that aspersion at any price. So I tried to compose my countenance over a beating heart and think about other things on the way to the beach, as you do if you are going to the dentist's."

Potter went with us, though I supposed that when we came to the end he would bid us goodbye and trot off to the place where the men bathed, wherever that might be. Our things had been taken on ahead by a servant or two, and we walked, as the day was perfect, and I was thankful to get a little exercise.

We met a great many people whom Sally and Potter knew, and just as Potter had said, "Here we are at Bailey's beach," that handsome Mrs. Pitchley and her stepdaughter, with Mr. Doremus came up. They called to us, so we stopped to speak, and I was pleased, because I'd been wanting to know them. We were introduced, and I was wondering what Mrs. Ess Kay would do if she could see us chatting with the Pitchleys in sight of all Newport when a little thin man, looking perfectly furious, with a striped bathing suit rolled up under his arm, came hopping along toward us as if he were a cricket ball that somebody had batted off the beach.

His panama hat was on the back of his head. His single eyeglass on its chain was flying out behind him in the breeze, and my first thought was how comical he looked. My second, as he came nearer, was something quite different.

"Why, Mohunsligh!" I cried.

He stopped hopping so abruptly that he stumbled and nearly fell down.

"Hello, Betty!" he growled, hauling off his hat as if he hated the bother of doing it. "Where did you spring from?"

"Home. Where on earth did you spring from?" I echoed.

"They've sprung me off their beastly beach," said he, glaring and sticking in his eyeglass. Then he almost waved his hideous little bathing suit at me. "Wouldn't let me bathe, the bouders!"

"Wouldn't let you bathe?"

"No. Said: 'You can't get in here. This beach is for millionaires.' I'm blest if I don't shake the sand off my feet as soon as I can pack up and get out."

"No, no! Don't do that," I begged.

"There's some mistake perhaps."

"No, there isn't," said he. "I'm not a millionaire. But I did think I looked as if I could afford a bath."

"Sally, dear, do let me introduce my cousin, Lord Mohunsligh," I said in a great hurry.

Potter opened his eyes at the thin little man, and Mrs. and Miss Pitchley looked at him with interest.

"Do introduce us all," laughed Mrs. Pitchley, "and then we can sympathize with Lord—Lord—oh, but I can never learn to pronounce him!"

I introduced him to the mother and stepdaughter then, though I hadn't thought of its being necessary, and explained that my cousin, though spelled very elaborately, was pronounced Moonslie.

He had evidently abandoned all intention of immediate flight now, and his rage was visibly cooling. He was looking at Mrs. Pitchley with quite as much interest as she showed in him and with even more at the girl, although he talked to Potter Parker and answered his questions quite civilly. He explained that he had actually been ordered away from the beach, bathing suit and all, by some "imperinent ass of an official."

Potter was hospitably distressed, but Mrs. Pitchley was moved to laughter.

"Ha, ha, won't the man be sick when he sees you coming back with us and hears us call you Lord Mohunsligh?"

"Why, Mohunsligh?" I cried.

leigh?—for if you'll point him out in time, that's what I shall call you, right under his nose. You see, this is a private beach. We all subscribe for our bath houses, but you'll be our guest, of course, and I'll put Mr. Pitchley's box at your service. He's gone off fishing for a few days. Only to think of the Earl of Mohunsligh being turned back. Delicious!"

"Can't say I thought of it that way till now," said Mohunsligh, pulling his wiry mustache and condescending to grin slightly at last. "But it's true I'm not a millionaire you know."

"You're an earl. You can't say you're not, for I read in the Flashlight only the other day that the Earl of Mohunsligh had sailed for America, though it couldn't be ascertained on what ship."

"Didn't know there was any particular reason why it should be ascertained," said Mohunsligh. "I've run over to visit a chap in California—dashed nice chap, too, but thought I'd have a shot at New York first, and blest if I could stand it. Never could stand being grilled since a sunstroke I got when I was serving in India."

"Dear me, who and what does a lord serve?" broke in Miss Pitchley, which surprised Mohunsligh and me both so much that he stared and I blushed. But she didn't, though no girl under Vic's age at least would think of cutting in like that with a stranger at home. Mohunsligh was delighted to be spoken to by her, though, one could see. His eyes brightened up and he smiled, looking straight at her as if she were a new and absolutely desirable kind of rifle I say rifle because Mohunsligh is a great shot and would rather spend his money (what he has of it) on a new invention by way of a gun than anything else.

"Used to be in the army. I've chucked it now," he explained affably, beginning to look quite nice, for really, though small and wiry, with ginger colored hair and mustache and no colored eyes, Mohunsligh isn't an ugly man when you come to notice his nice, sharp features. He's only a distant cousin of mine and so old (he's nearly forty) that in the first years of our acquaintance he made himself agreeable by teaching me to ride on his foot, but I always liked him—when I remembered his existence. Naturally, though, this hasn't been often, as one of his many eccentricities is to be continually prowling at the ends of the earth—anywhere where there may be animals to shoot. What kind he doesn't seem to care if they are only large enough. Once he was fond of tigers, but the last thing he had a fad for was polar bears, and he sent mother a skin, which makes the oak room smell strongly of camphor.

"I hope, anyhow, you're going to pay a good long visit to Newport," said Mrs. Pitchley.

"I meant to go back tomorrow morning," replied Mohunsligh, "but perhaps I might stop on a bit longer."

"We'll give you some fun," volunteered Miss Pitchley, looking frightfully pretty.

"Will you?" said Mohunsligh. "Jolly nice of you. I must think about it. Then he declined to remember that I was his little long lost cousin, asked when I'd arrived on this side the water and a few other things, but he looked more at Miss Pitchley than at me. I suppose it is difficult to be much excited about a person who has taken riding lessons on your foot."

Potter asked Mohunsligh where he was staying, and when he heard it was at a hotel he said his sister wouldn't allow that to go on. Lord Mohunsligh would have to come to the Moorings, that was settled, and his man must be told to pack up his things directly. Mightn't word be sent by messenger at once?

"Haven't brought a man, thanks awfully. Shed that habit long ago," said my cousin. "I've got precious little luggage, too; picked this thing up in a shop as I came along and they charged me the deuce of a lot for it. You're awfully good, you know, and all that, to offer to put me up, but I only came prepared to spend a night or two."

Then Potter insisted and blew all Mohunsligh's objections away one by one as if they had been threads of cobweb, still my cousin wouldn't give a definite answer, perhaps not understanding American hospitality, or perhaps having other ideas which he preferred. At all events we went to the bathing machines (which weren't bathing machines at all, but dear little houses) without anything being decided. The only invitation which Mohunsligh had really accepted was Mrs. Pitchley's, for her husband's bathing box.

She kept her word and called him "Lord Mohunsligh" in quite a high voice, just as we passed the man who had refused to let him go on to the beach before, but the man didn't seem impressed in the least. I think he didn't even recognize Mohunsligh as the same person, or if he did he pretended very cleverly not to.

Colonel Cornman on Trial Today.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 30.—The trial of Captain Charles G. French before a court martial at Fort Wayne on the charge of appropriating government forage to other than government uses, has been finished. At the conclusion of the arguments the twelve members of the court went into secret consultation. Their verdict will not be made known to the defense or the public until it has been forwarded to the war department at Washington for approval. The case of Colonel Daniel Cornman, commander of the Seventh Infantry, was taken up by the court martial today, the same alleged illegal issue of government forage being also the basis of Colonel Cornman's case.

Young Wife Gave Up Struggle.

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 30.—When Louis Minoli, a granite cutter, returned home from work last night, he found his wife, aged nineteen years, and their year-old baby, Caesar, dead in bed with their throats cut. The medical examiner decided that the woman had killed the child and then committed suicide with the same weapon, her husband's razor. Mrs. Minoli left a letter for her husband, in which she declared that she loved him but that she was going to end her life because she did not know how to be a housekeeper.

North Sea Disaster.

London, Oct. 30.—The bodies of several members of the crew of the steamer Yarmouth, bound from Rotterdam to Harwich, were picked up in the North sea, and parts of the wreckage of the vessel were found in mid-channel. The crew of the Yarmouth consisted of Captain Avis and twenty-two men, and it is practically certain that all were lost.

Killed in Pistol Duel.

Carmel, Ill., Oct. 30.—George Biley was shot and killed at Clifford by William Willis, after he had opened fire on Willis. Willis conducts a restaurant and ordered Biley to leave his place. The two men then quarreled and the shooting followed. Willis was arrested and taken to Duquoin, where he was placed in jail.

To those afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble, backache, rheumatism, Pains for the Kidneys brings relief in the first dose. Hundreds of people today testify to their remarkable healing and tonic properties. 30 days' trial $1.00. They purify the blood. Sold by Lytle's drug store.

The Stars and Stripes Forever!

The red flag is abroad in the land, and those who wave it do not hesitate to say that they value it above the stars and stripes. Aiming, as they do, at the effacement of individualism, the extinction of those qualities in man which have produced all the great triumphs of civilization, which have elevated him above the savage and which stimulate him to higher achievement, as age outstrips age in the onward march of humanity, it is but consistent in the exponents of socialism that they should repudiate the flag which gives them protection, which was unfurled at the birth of the republic and which represents the opportunities that enabled Lincoln to rise from woodchopping and Garfield from the towpath.

The same opportunities exist today as in former times and are more general even than in the past. Nearly all our prominent men have worked up from humble beginnings and are not ashamed of the fact. In Europe they have emperors and kings and long rolls of nobility; here such distinctions do not exist. There is a fair field for all.

There is no interference with the display of the alien emblem, but Americans resent none the less the imprudent statement that it is preferred to the stars and stripes on American soil. And when election day arrives many a voter will feel that in giving his ballot for Taft and Sherman, the candidates of the Republican party, he is doing a patriotic duty in helping to keep down an element which avowedly aims to overthrow American institutions and to put the stars and stripes of the United States beneath the blood red flag of the commune.

Electric Light Plant Wrecked.

Frankfort, Ind., Oct. 29.—Without a moment's warning, the large fly-wheel at the city electric light plant, within two squares of the courthouse, burst, wrecking the plant and doing damage to the extent of from $12,000 to $15,000.

The Books Are Opened!

Read! Meditate! Figure!

A local paper has asked that the county books be opened. It has intimated that the disclosures might be startling. Such has been the case.

The county tax levy is less than 50 cents on the $100 and is levied equally throughout the county. The township trustee, together with his advisory board, levies the tax in his township, and he and they are responsible for the levy.

The table below shows the levy in each of the townships, seven of which are under Republican rule and five under Democratic rule. From the Democratic wall we would expect the lowest rate in the Democratic townships.

What does the record show?

The average rate of taxes in the five Democratic townships levied last September is 21 11/14 cents higher than the average in the seven Republican townships.

For the 1907 the average in the Democratic townships was 24 3/7 cents higher than in the Republican townships.

For 1906 the Democratic townships asked 36 39/70 cents on the hundred dollars MORE than the Republican townships, and for 1905 they were 23 1/5 cents higher.

Does this prove Democratic economy and Republican extravagance?

You who live in Democratic townships can, by a little calculation, find exactly what Democracy in your township has cost you.

Notice the following table carefully and ask your Democratic neighbor to explain. Hold him to the records.

AN IMPORTANT CALL

China Attaches Much Significance to Fleet's Visit.

Amoy, Oct. 30.—Eight battleships comprising the second squadron of the American Atlantic fleet, under command of Rear Admiral William H.
 Emory, arrived here this morning after an uneventful voyage from Yokohama.
 To the Chinese the visit of the Americans is of far-reaching importance and every preparation has been made not only to extend to the representatives of the United States a flattering welcome, but to impress upon them China's desire for even more cordial relations with the republic than have prevailed hitherto.

The selection of Amoy as a port of call is in accordance with the program decided upon at Washington, when it was determined that the fleet should return to America via the Suez canal.
 The sixteen ships of the fleet left Yokohama together on Sunday morning, but divided into two squadrons when two days out, the first under command of Rear Admiral Sperry on the flagship Connecticut, heading for Olonga-po, Philippine Islands, and the second under Rear Admiral Emory, on the Louisiana, bound for Amoy. The two squadrons will join forces again at Manila, the second division being scheduled to leave this port on Nov. 4 and to arrive at Manila on Nov. 7.

China will welcome her American visitors with unbounded enthusiasm.
 Preparations to this end are complete and Chinamen of exalted rank will take part in the festivities. China today is struggling to preserve the territorial integrity of Mongolia and Manchuria from the encroachments of Russia and Japan, and the presence of these American battleships at Amoy is welcome to the Pekin government because of the interpretation that China has chosen to give to this friendly act —that the United States is inclined to support her in her contentions with her neighbors, an interpretation that is not recognized officially, but is of China's own making, the desire in this case being father to the thought.

SYRACUSE HAD BOTH BIG MEN

The Town Was Put to It
 For Red Fire.

BOTH JOINED BOOSTERS' CLUB

A Feature of the Simultaneous Visit at Syracuse Last Night of Both Candidates Taft and Bryan, the Local Boosters' Organization, "The Mystique Krewe of Kanoono," Initiated the Nominees into the Dark Mysteries of the Order, but This Did Not Interfere With Much Speechmaking.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 30.—To this city fell last night the distinction of entertaining the two men most prominent in public interest. To applauding thousands, William H. Taft and William J. Bryan expounded respectively Republican and Democratic doctrines. Mr. Taft spoke at two meetings and Mr. Bryan at four. At each occasion the warning "Standing room only" was displayed long before the hour of the meeting, and before the "big men" arrived, standing room was at a premium, and hundreds were turned away. Also, in each instance, the presidential candidates were received with flattering demonstrations and their speeches were frequently interrupted by spontaneous applause.

The Taft and Bryan special arrived at the station at almost the same moment, a little after 6 o'clock, and to the credit of the city's hospitality, be it said that the expressions of welcome were pretty evenly divided.
 Both candidates were met by local leaders and entertained at dinner. Mr.
 Bryan left his car upon arrival and shook hands with many on the platform. Mr. Taft improved the opportunity to rest for a little while after his car had come to a standstill. Mr.
 Taft spoke at the Alhambra convention hall and at Turn hall. Previous to the meeting there was a Republican parade, the line including the Syracuse Republican Escort, the Old Boys Lincoln and Fremont club, the Conklin Unconditional Marching club of Utica, and the Taft and Sherman Marching club of Auburn.

Mr. Bryan was accompanied by Judge Alton B. Parker and I. J. Dunn.
 His first address was at the City hall, this being followed by speeches at the Wieting opera house, Empire hall and before the Modern Woodmen of America, who entertained Mr. Bryan just before his departure for the West late last night. Mr. Taft remained in town last night. While here, as an added compliment, both of the distinguished guests were initiated into the Mystique Krewe of Kanoono.

BROKE THE WALLS

Police Resort to Axes in New York
 Gambling Raid.

New York, Oct. 30.—Two spectacular raids of alleged poolrooms were made by the police at different places on the East side of the city. In the aggregate 280 prisoners were taken, and in addition it is said that a considerable quantity of gambling paraphernalia was confiscated.

At both the houses raided it was necessary to use axes in gaining entrance, and at one of them the heavy iron doors were impregnable, and it was necessary to break the wall of the building. Not one inmate of either house escaped arrest.

Large crowds watched the police at their work and jeered the prisoners as they were hustled away in patrol wagons.

The Bucks Case Advanced.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The taking of testimony in the case of Samuel Gompers, president, John Mitchell, vice president, and Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, for alleged contempt of court, growing out of a suit for injunction brought by the Bucks Stove and Range company of St. Louis, was concluded yesterday before an examiner. The privilege of submitting testimony for the defense was waived, for the purpose of hastening a decision of the case, which was called up for final hearing before Justice Wright of the District supreme court today.

Victims of Coal Gas.

Marion, Ind., Oct. 30.—Michael Futrell, aged fifty-nine years, and his wife Martha, aged fifty-four, were suffocated, and their granddaughter, Glenna Ryan, thirteen years old, is in a critical condition as a result of coal gas escaping from a baseburner in their home. Mr. and Mrs. Futrell were sleeping in a room adjoining the one in which the baseburner was located. They were dead when found.
 Miss Ryan, who was in a more remote room, was gasping for breath when rescued.

Rear Admiral Alfred Reynolds Cowden was placed on the retired list of the navy today, his sixty-second birthday. He will probably continue as president of the special board of ornance of the navy.

When more people come to use and answer Want and For Sale
 Advertisements, more people will know each other—

MORE PEOPLE WITH MUTUAL INTEREST WILL MEET—

more people will find channels and opportunities for reciprocal ser-gaining," of exchanging useful but not used things for useful and usable ones.

A Word to the Voters of Rush County.

I believe there are a few voters of the county who are not familiar with the fact that the County Treasurer is required by law to make a second campaign if he desires to serve the people the full term of four years—the length of time most all of the other county officers are elected to serve.

In other words, this officer must be elected every TWO years, instead of four years, as is the case with most all of the other offices.

I do not believe that this is a "Square Deal" to the Treasurer, but as it is the law, it must be obeyed.

I mention this fact simply to relieve the mind of any voter who has been led to believe (for a purpose, of course), that I am making the race for a second term of four years, when the rule in this county is "one term and out." Please bear this in mind and do not let any one deceive you in this way.

Another thing I ask you to think of, is the fact that the campaign comes at the very busiest tax-paying season, and this handicaps the Treasurer to such an extent that it is impossible for him to make a canvass of the county in his own behalf, and is compelled to rely largely on the loyalty of his friends for his second election, instead of his own personal efforts.

Knowing then that I can not have the opportunity of seeing each voter personally, I am just going to leave the whole matter in your hands, feeling that you fully understand the situation and will do the very right thing on the third day of November.

In conclusion I want to thank the voters of Rush County for the splendid support given me two years ago, and say frankly that I have tried to do my work well and want to serve you for the balance of the term, and to that end ask for your support.

With my very best wishes,

GEORGE H. CALDWELL.

AN OPEN LETTER

To the Editor of the Republican, and I Want the People of Rushville to Know that I Write the Following Voluntarily.—Harry L. Goodiel.

I write these few lines out of gratitude for what Mi-o-na has done for me for dyspepsia and indigestion.

I have suffered for the past five years, and have tried different doctors, but have had no relief until I bought a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na from our drug store (R. W. McCawton's) here a short time ago.

The first box did me so much good that I immediately purchased another one, and I now feel better than I have at any time in the past five years. Am able to eat anything, and everything, and get a good night's sleep afterwards.

Was so bad at one time that all I was able to eat for over a month was a raw egg in a half a glass of milk, two or three times daily.

I would earnestly advise anyone suffering as I was from dyspepsia, to give this remedy a fair trial. I remain, gratefully yours, Harry L. Goodiel, No. 9½ River St., Ashtabula, Ohio.

Mi-o-na is the only logical dyspepsia remedy on the market today. It is not a digester. It does not contain a particle of pepsin. It cures by building up the muscular walls of the stomach, and making the stomach so strong and perfect that it is able without artificial help to digest an ordinary meal with ease, and without discomfort.

The experience of Mr. Goodiel is a common one, and it is safe to say that Mi-o-na tablets have cured more acute and chronic diseases of the stomach than any other remedy. F. B. Johnson & Co. sell it at 50 cents a box, and guarantee it to cure or money back.

YOUNG HORSE MET HORRIBLE DEATH

Colt Belonging to Clinton Hawhee Was Strangled to Death Between Two Trees.

"UNPREMEDITATED SUICIDE"

A colt belonging to Clinton Hawhee met a horrible death this week, when it strangled to death between two young trees.

The colt was but four months old, and was gamboling about the pasture when it started to go between two trees. The fore body of the little animal passed through all right, but its hind quarters failed to pass the obstacle. The more the colt tried to extricate itself the more it became fastened between the two trees, and finally it was strangled to death.

It was necessary for Mr. Hawhee and two workmen to saw one of the trees down before the dead body of the colt could be taken away, so fast had it become entrenched.

Ask Yourself.

Are you not better off than you were twelve years ago?

Haven't you witnessed twelve years of unprecedented prosperity?

Can anyone convince you that you would have fared better if Bryan had been elected in 1896?

Can anyone convince you that you would have fared better if Bryan had been elected in 1900?

Can anyone convince you that you would have fared better had Parker, for whom Bryan urged you to vote, elected in 1904.

How, then, can anyone convince you that you would fare better if Bryan should be elected in 1908?

YOU MUST ANSWER WITH YOUR VOTE.
